343 Update on WB-N3 Well in Thailand

8/2/2002

8 February 2002

ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

TESTING CONTINUES ON CARNARVON PETROLEUM'S WB-N3 OIL DISCOVERY IN THAILAND

Carnarvon Petroleum NL is pleased to announce that production testing is underway on a new oil discovery well in the Wichian Buri Oil Field within the SW1A Concession in Central Thailand.

WB-N3 was perforated on 4 February over the F sand interval from 962 to 988m interpreted from electric logs and mud logs in the F sand from 957 to 992m with a shoe at 1010m. The testing has recovered oil and gas and is continuing. Details will be made available upon completion of the testing.

The new well is located approximately 200m southwest of the producing well, WB-N2, one kilometre north of the Wichian Buri field producing wells, WB-1 and WB-A1. WB-N3 was designed to tap into the productive F-Sandstone package in a down-dip position and WB-N2.

WB-N3 also encountered hydrocarbons in volcanics from 655-678m and in sands in the volcanics. These intervals are believed to be oil bearing but no testing of these intervals has been carried out or is planned for WB-N3.

WB-N3 is the first of a series of production wells to be drilled by the joint venture partnership. Further development wells are anticipated following an analysis of the results of WB-N3. The finalisation of the Field Development Plan (FDP) is expected to be completed by the end of February 2002 with the FDP to follow shortly thereafter.

Carnarvon Petroleum NL is a listed junior oil and gas exploration and production company. Carnarvon has oil and gas reserves and production in the SW1A Concession in Thailand, reserves in Papua New Guinea and the North West Shelf of Australia. The SW1A Concession consists of Carnarvon Petroleum NL (40% interest) and Pacific Tiger Energy Inc (60% interest).
